

MOB DID IT QUICKLY

Mob Takes Negro From a Train and Lynches Him.

General Cassius M. Clay Adjudget Insane—His Former Wife to Go on the Stage.

LATE NEWS BY TELEGRAPH

TAKEN FROM TRAIN AND LYNCHED.

Vicksburg, Miss., July 8.—Cato Garrett, the negro who stabbed Harry Stout to death, was hung by a mob near the scene of his crime. Garrett was taken to Natchez Saturday evening, Sheriff Brennan fearing an assault on the jail here.

A special grand jury found a true bill against Garrett and Sheriff Brennan notified the Adams county sheriff to bring the negro to this city.

Deputy Sheriff Paul, with the negro, took passage on the train due here at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. At Stent's Crossing, a flag station six miles south, the train was held up by fifty masked and heavily armed men, half of the mob taking the train crew in charge while the others hustled Garrett out of the smoker. When all was in readiness the conductor and engineer were given order to "move on" and the mob, with the negro alternately praying and cursing, took up the march for the scene of the crime, and within a very few minutes the slayer of Harry Stout was dangling at the end of a rope.

McKNIGHT IN STRIPES.

Louisville, July 8.—The long fight made by J. M. McKnight, the former banker, to keep out of prison ended in defeat yesterday when in the United States court Judge Evans ordered the prisoner to be taken to Atlanta to serve his sentence of six years. It has been about four years since McKnight began his fight to keep out of the penitentiary. He had five trials and there were four verdicts against him. His trouble with the government grows out of the wrecking of the German National bank.

GEN. CLAY ADJUDGED INSANE.

Richmond, Ky., July 8.—A jury today found Gen. Cassius M. Clay of unsound mind and will appoint a committee to take charge of his affairs. He is critically ill and was not able to be in court. Dora Brock is here and says she will go on the stage.

CARDINAL GIBBONS LEAVES.

LOUISVILLE RAILROAD MAN SUC-CUMBS AFTER ALL.

Louisville, July 8.—Mr. Pulaski Leeds of the L. and N., who was shot in his office several days ago by Warner, an electrician who was refused a letter of recommendation, died at 4 today. It was believed yesterday that he would recover, but his condition took a turn for the worse and he succumbed. The murderer is still alive.

Mr. B. T. Harton and daughter, Miss Annie Harton, of Dyersburg, arrived at noon to visit the family of Mr. E. W. Smith, his son-in-law.

THE JURY HUNG AGAIN

Freeman Baseball Case Must be Tried Again Now.

Four For Acquittal at the Trial Held This Morning at the City Hall.

CASE MAY BE DISMISSED

The only remaining prosecution in the Sunday baseball cases was called at the city hall this morning before Justice Jesse Young and tried. It was against Pitcher Freeman, who was tried several days ago and resulted in a hung jury. All the other cases have been disposed of by acquittal before a jury or dismissal on motion of the county attorney. County Attorney Graves is out of the city at present, or when the jury heard the evidence in the Freeman case this morning and failed to agree, standing four for acquittal and two for conviction, would doubtless have moved for a dismissal, as he was in favor of dismissing it yesterday but was informed that the prosecution would today be able to prove the charge.

The prosecution, as in the other cases, failed to prove that Pitcher Freeman played baseball on the Sunday charged, because no one was positive he played. The jury when the case was tried a few days ago stood likewise, four to acquit and two to convict.

Both sides today expressed a desire to get rid of this, the last case, but Justice Young did not desire to assume the responsibility of dismissing it without a motion from the county attorney, and set it for Monday, July 20th, unless sooner dismissed by order of the county attorney. It is believed that when Attorney Graves returns from Dawson where he is attending the county attorneys' convention he will go before the magistrate and move a dismissal.

COUNTY ATTORNEYS.

THE CONVENTION THIS MORNING BEGAN AT DAWSON.

The County Attorneys' association began a three days' session at Dawson today and is well attended. County Attorney Eugene Graves is attending from Paducah. An interesting meeting is promised, and among the subjects to be discussed are:

1. Pauper and pauper claims.
2. Delinquent list and land sale for taxes.
3. Court house and other public buildings.
4. Ideal county attorney.
5. Stoppage of leaks.
6. The dirt road.
7. County work house.
8. Boards of health.
9. A court of justice.
10. Needed legislation.

County Attorney George Edwards, of Benton, Marshall county, left with Attorney Graves at noon.

HOTTEST DAY OF THE YEAR—RELIEF PROMISED TOMORROW

Government Observer Bornemann reported at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon that the temperature was 101 in the shade, the hottest of the year. Yesterday the highest was 99, and despite the fact that the minimum was 1 degree lower today than yesterday, being 75 today and 76 yesterday, the temperature has been considerably warmer.

Tomorrow showers and cooler weather are promised.

CAUGHT IN BUZZ FAN.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT TO MR. JAS. SELLERS TODAY.

Mr. James Sellers, of 12th and Trimble streets, got his right hand caught in a buzz fan this morning and the fingers of the member badly lacerated and mangled. Dr. J. S. Troutman dressed the injury.

TRACK LABORERS GO ON A STRIKE TODAY

Forty-five track laborers in the employ of the Paducah City Railway Co. went out today at noon on a strike. The total force of laborers numbers forty-eight and the spokesman, Leo Christian, after having made demands for an increase and met with a refusal, returned to work. There were forty-eight laborers employed on South Sixth street and at noon a meeting was held to discuss an increase. They are at present getting $1.12 1/2 per day and asked for $1.25. They went to the street car office in a body and made formal demands. The crowd created some little curiosity about legal Row and many idlers stopped to hear the discussion.

Most of the men, when refused, were paid off and their badges taken away from them, and new men will be secured in their place. A number of them, however, went back to work.

TO TAKE THE ROAD

"Faust" to be Played Under Mr. Young This Season.

Company Will Start Out Near Chicago—Prospective Cast.

Mr. James A. Young, who so cleverly played "Mephisto" last night in "Faust" at the Kentucky theater has about arranged for the starting out of his company next season. The company will be headed by Mr. Young and will start about August 20th from near Chicago playing the middle west. It has already been booked for half the season. The cast has not yet been decided on. Mr. Young will play "Mephisto" and it is possible that Mr. Omar Fowler, who played "Faust" last night, will accept a place in the company and make the tour with it, but is not decided.

Miss Hattie Cord, of Mayfield, but formerly of Paducah, may go with the company as "Marguerite," as she is said to be very clever and has had several rehearsals and is praised very highly for her work by Mr. Young. Miss Cord is very ambitious, but few of her friends were aware that she had aspirations in this direction.

Miss Flora May Clark will not be with the company, but will back it. Already the scenery has been secured and everything is now ready for the opening engagement about August 20, except the few preliminary rehearsals.

ANOTHER WARRANT

TO BE ISSUED AGAINST TOM TYNER.

Mr. Ed Drennan, proprietor of the New Richmond house bar, will today swear out a warrant against Tom Tyner for forgery. He claims that Tyner passed a $40 check purporting to be signed by Tyner & Earhart of Nashville on him.

New York, July 8.—All dispatches from Rome today agree that while the pope's condition is regarded as hopeless, he is still alive and a trifle better today.

ALL IS QUIET

Evansville Now Under Martial Law.

Much Alarm Felt Among the Terrified Negroes.

Evansville, Ind., July 8.—The city of Evansville is now under the control of Brig. Gen. W. J. McKee and Mayor Charles G. Covert, assisted by a committee of public safety, chosen at a conference called by Gen. McKee, who inquired of the mayor what precautions had been taken to prevent a recurrence of lawlessness. The committee decided to place the guarding of the city in the hands of Chief of Police Fred Henke and to strengthen his regular police force thirty-two, making it 100.

The military forces assist the police in patrolling the city. All persons found on the streets at night who can not furnish a satisfactory explanation are sent to their homes under guard. The police arrested fifteen negroes during the night. All were armed and in several instances two revolvers were found upon the prisoners. Among the majority of the negroes the wildest fear was present throughout the night. Fully 2,000 men, women and children left their homes and tramped to the fair grounds and there went into camp. For hours the men kept up a fusillade of shots to intimidate the whites, and no party of the latter ventured near them with hostile intent.

A freight train that left here was stormed by colored men to the number of twenty-five, who rode to Vincennes and told the wildest stories of disorder. Baptisttown was practically deserted during the night. Hundreds of fear-stricken refugees appealed to the police for protection and were guarded in the station house and at nearby boarding houses through the night.

VERY ILL.

George Taylor, a white prisoner in the county jail, yesterday afternoon had a very bad hemorrhage and is in a critical condition today. Taylor was placed in jail a few weeks ago for an alleged forgery of a check on the Paducah Gas company. He has been suffering from consumption for some time and has been gradually growing worse.

TRAINS RUN AGAIN

Marvelous Work Accomplished by I. C. Men.

Tennessee River Bridge Almost Passable Again—Work on Cairo Division Delayed.

OTHER RAILROAD NOTES

Many Paducahans have gone to Tennessee river bridge to see the marvelous work of the bridge gangs in placing in a temporary span.

When the work was first started it was estimated that the bridge would not be ready for trains before the 12th, but the higher officials who came immediately to the scene from Chicago have rushed things in such a manner that the first train will probably be run over by night.

There are several hundred men working on the span day and night and one woman who resides near the north end of the bridge yesterday morning furnished 115 laborers with breakfast and has also fed twice that many at dinner. The work is being pushed so rapidly that many of the laborers have not time to eat regularly.

The scene of the work is a sight worth seeing. There are three boats working about the bridge constantly and two large floating pile drivers are continually hammering away at piling being driven as fast as is possible to set. Engines are pulling and blowing about the bridge on both ends hauling material.

This morning Mr. O. M. Dann, the assistant general manager of southern lines, arrived from the south in his special car No. 5 and was taken to the scene of the accident. He is the latest addition to the many high officials who have gone there to assist in the rushing of the work.

This morning two-thirds of the piling had been driven. These piles have to be cut off near the water's edge and longer ones spliced in and trimmed at the top. After this is completed the side timbers will be placed on and ties laid. This work will require but little time after the piling has been set and the railroad company has issued bulletins to all departments of the road and to the express companies promising the completion of the work by tonight.

It is believed that the railroad company will at once begin the construction of an iron bridge over Tennessee river. It had been contemplating one when the accident to the bridge occurred Saturday. This accident has only served to show the danger and damage in maintaining the antiquated wooden bridge. One hundred thousand dollars will probably not cover the loss.

Later—The first train to go over the bridge passed over successfully at noon today, being the fast passenger from Memphis for Louisville. This insures an immediate resumption of business over the division.

The work on the Cairo extension of the I. C. is not going so fast at present on account of a shortage in gravel caused by the burning of the Tennessee river bridge.

Several train loads of gravel were shipped to the Cairo extension daily and since the burning of the bridge, which makes it impossible to bring the gravel through, the work has been going more slowly. There is but one mile of grading and track work to be done and when this is finished the road will be ready for the inspection train. It is thought that the train will be run over by the 20th.

The report that Mr. R. S. Baorrick, the local I. C. yardmaster, had resigned was erroneous, as he is off duty temporarily only.

Mr. Baorrick has been in bad health for several months and the higher officials have placed in Mr. Kane temporarily to relieve him until he has recovered sufficiently to assume the entire duties. He will probably go East to some watering resort for a few weeks' visit to recuperate.

The I. C. pay car notice has been received and the car will visit Paducah on the 19th and will take a

ABOUT THE CITY HALL

No Police Court Was Held This Morning.

Negro "Do Right" Preacher Tried Yesterday and Decision Reserved.

SHERIFF OF BALLARD HERE

Today there was no session of the police court because there was no business to transact. The Fourth of July rush being over, people are getting good, according to the police, and no arrests were made last night. The usual crowd of spectators was compelled to depart disappointed today.

The case against "Rev." Wm. Gray, the "Do Right" negro preacher, charged with using improper language in his sermons on the street corners, was heard yesterday afternoon before Special Judge Tom Crice, who reserved his decision until he can look up some authorities.

The case was not without its sensational features. Patrol Wagon Driver John Austin took offense at a remark the preacher's attorney, Mr. J. Wheeler Campbell, made during the hearing of testimony in regard to the patrol driver attending church, and after court wanted to fight, but was prevented. Attorney Campbell did not anticipate anything of the kind, and declaring he meant it as a joke apologized, and Mr. Austin and the attorney are now as good friends as ever. Mr. Austin said today he was sorry it occurred and that it only resulted from a misunderstanding.

Sheriff Nichols arrived yesterday from Wickliffe after Jerry Winston, the negro arrested on suspicion of being the negro who shot and killed one of the other I. C. laborers on the Cairo division. The officer never saw the man wanted and could not say whether Winston is the negro or not. Winston says he is not, and was taken to Wickliffe today on the Fowler to be identified.

Chain Gang Overseer Frank Smedley is quite ill and off duty, but is improving his many friends will be pleased to learn. He is able to come down town and will probably be at work again in a day or two.

County Judge J. M. Fisher of Benton is in the city today on legal business and is greeting his many friends with his old-time geniality.

Van Bossurn, white, was arrested this morning by Officer Tolbert, the I. C. special policeman, for jumping off and on trains.

Deputy Sheriff Grooms of Weakley county, Tennessee, was in the city today on business and returned home today.

different route from that already in use. The card reads from Fulton to East Cairo and from East Cairo to Paducah, meaning the car will come through via the Cairo extension, which will be completed that day. This will be good news to the people and verifies the statement that the road will be finished by the 17th.

This morning a private traveling car from the San Antonio and Arkansas Pass railroad was brought through the city with a party on board en route to Waverly, Ky. This is the first time a car from this road has been brought through here in several years and was something of a novelty.

The local freight traffic has been paralyzed by the accident at Tennessee river bridge, but the freight clerks and engine crews will have more than they can attend to after the bridge has been repaired and the trains started over it. It will probably require several weeks to catch up again.

Work on the electric motor appliance to the local I. C. turntable is progressing fast and it is thought the improvement will be completed by the last of the month. This will save much labor and time and will be a valuable improvement to the local railroad facilities.

Miss D. H. Patterson went to Central City today at noon to visit.

THE SCHOOL BOARD

Creates Office of Supt. of Buildings and Fills it.

Extensive Report Made by Supt. Hatfield—Mr. Fred Hoyer Gets New Office.

STENOGRAPHIC BILL REFUSED

The superintendent's report was about all of interest before the board of education at its regular meeting last night at the high school building on West Broadway. Trustees Leake, Mammen, Bockmou, Sutherland, Winstead, Lally, Weille, Maret and Jackson were present. The office of superintendent of buildings was created and Mr. Fred Hoyer elected to it.

Superintendent Hatfield's report is as follows:

To the Honorable President and Members of the Board of Education:

Gentlemen:—It is my pleasant duty to present to you at this time my report for the month of June, showing the condition of affairs under my supervision. At the next meeting in August it will be my purpose, according to the rules, to offer you a more complete statement as my annual report. During the year there have been enrolled 3,272 pupils, which is a gain over last year of 163, or a little over 5 per cent, of last year's enrollment. Of this number 2,374 were white and 898 were colored. As there is practically no increase in the colored enrollment, I have concluded that the same number of colored teachers can handle the colored schools next year as did during this year. But the increase in the white enrollment is so heavy that two extra teachers were recommended to you for election. As it now stands you have fifty teachers and one music director in your white schools and fourteen teachers in the colored schools, or a total of sixty-five teachers.

I will not take your time now to hear the number of promotions to each grade at each building, as that will appear in detail in the annual report.

On account of the crowded condition of the Jefferson, as was true of the Lee and Franklin year before last, it will be absolutely necessary to remove the eighth grade from that building to the Washington and turn over that entire building to the first seven grades. It is much to be regretted that there is not enough room at the Franklin school for an eighth grade, for seventeen eighth pupils will have to come from beyond Island creek to the Longfellow or to the Washington. The two room building in Mechanicsburg is entirely insufficient to accommodate the pupils even of the first, second and third grades, living beyond the creek. This year a sufficient number of pupils were promoted to the fourth grade to make a separate room at that school, but for lack of room they will have to be crowded into the Franklin building. It behooves the citizens of Mechanicsburg to demand a larger building in their end of town. Next year four rooms will be needed there, and the rapid extension of the population in that direction will soon make an eight room building necessary.

The Washington building is likewise filling rapidly. At this building we shall start in September with sixteen teachers. There will be two first grade teachers, two third grade, two fourth grade, two eighth and two ninth grade teachers; one teacher in each of the other grades.

At the Jefferson two first grade teachers and at the Lee and Franklin each two fourth grade teachers.

During my three years as superintendent your enrollment has increased quite 500. It is wise therefore that you have under consideration the advisability of relieving the superintendent of much of the mechanical minutia, such as the immediate oversight of the various heating plants and the carrying out of many details that can be committed to other hands with economy and profit. With an industrious and competent mechanic to look after these things they would get closer attention and at the same time your superintendent would have more time to devote to the supervision of the methods of teaching.

In accordance with previous notices that I have given you, it is my intention to greatly improve the course of study in the high school. I cannot now elaborate this statement, but will say that the subjects of literature, physics and Latin will have more attention than in the past, so that greater satisfaction will be derived from these studies.

All the details of the closing of the schools on June 12 have already been brought to your attention, so that it is unnecessary again to refer to them. I respectfully remind you of the fact that some decided improvement in the heating plant of the Longfellow will be necessary before the schools open. Some plastering must be done at the Lincoln, Jefferson and Washington buildings. A very little need be spent on outside repairs, and a mechanic will be kept busy for ten days at each building in putting desks in good order. At the Washington, at the east and west entrances, the plastering has been knocked off badly. It is now evident that these exposed niches should have been differently finished. I think it were wise now to substitute oak wainscoting for the plastering.

The regular miscellaneous bills were allowed and further time was granted the committee appointed to look after the cost of seating the auditorium, while that to investigate furnishing the rooms at the Washington building reported in favor of getting the rooms ready for use.

The office of building superintendent was created and the salary fixed at $50 a month, the duties required being to look after the buildings, keep a record of all repairs, material, etc. Mr. Fred Hoyer, captain of police here several years ago, and a well known carpenter, was elected superintendent by a vote of 6, the other applicants being B. O. Fields, T. A. Clark, Will Brown and A. F. James.

The printing committee was instructed to have 1,000 "courses of study" printed for the use of Supt. Hatfield.

The secretary was instructed to get together the revised rules and regulations, with all those repealed, since the last book was published, in order that a new volume may be published. The secretary is to receive $40 for it. No action was taken in regard to the bill of Stenographer A. W. Barkley, who was employed by the board to take the evidence in the Hatfield investigation. The board now claims that Prof. Snyder agreed to pay half the expense, but as Prof. Snyder did not do so Mr. Barkley comes to the board, which employed him, to collect the $42 due for services. The board only allowed half.

The board then adjourned.

ASHEVILLE TIRED OF TWO TELEPHONE COMPANIES.

Asheville, N. C., July 1.—About four years ago the Asheville Telephone Co. was formed with capital from the East and West for the purpose of competing with the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co. The new company named rates of little more than one-half of those charged by the Bell company, and built up an exchange with something more than 1,000 subscribers, while the Bell company had only a little more than 400 subscribers.

The board of trade gave their unanimous support to the new company, which, after four years of operation, now submit their affairs to the board of trade, showing that they have not made actual operating expenses and that they have not been able to set aside $1,000 per annum for the payment of their bonds, as required, and that the bondholders can place them in the hands of a receiver at any moment. They state that they are unable to continue the business any longer at the present rates, and ask permission to consolidate their property with that of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co. and increase their rates about 50 per cent. After looking into the matter carefully the board has unanimously endorsed their application, and the matter now goes before the board of aldermen for action on the part of the city.

A large number of prominent business men have been interviewed and their opinions vary, with the exception that a large majority are earnestly in favor of only one system. Many business men expressed no surprise at the result, as they do not believe the new company could furnish first class service at the rates named, and others complained that the service furnished by the new company has been of a very inferior quality for more than a year, and that they would much prefer to pay increased rates for better service.

On the whole a large majority favor only one system, even at increased rates. It is understood that the rates will not be any higher than were being charged by the Bell Co. when the independent company came into the field.

Miss Viola Green of Clinton is visiting her cousin, Miss Birdye Gilbert.

A GOOD GAME.

Local fans were somewhat incensed yesterday afternoon by the exhibition of fast baseball witnessed at Wallace park between Paducah and Hopkinsville. The score was 5 to 3, but even defeat was endurable under the circumstances. The batting of Mullen, who knocked another home run over the fence, was the feature of the game.

Girard and Kelley and Edwards and Street were the batteries. Freeman made a sensational running catch in right field, stopping the ball with one hand and dropping it into the other on a dead run, retiring the batter and winning much applause. It is regarded as the catch of the season.

There were comparatively few errors, as the summary shows, and the fans took heart again, and another good game or two will bring them all out, accompanied by their tin horns and enthusiasm.

ABOUT CHICAGO

SOME INTERESTING HISTORY TOLD BY A PROFESSOR

Chicago, July 8.—Chicago can celebrate this year a far more advanced anniversary than the centennial. A bi-centennial would hardly be enough, for it was 219 years ago that the first building was constructed at the mouth of the river by Father Marquette in 1684. This was the statement of Prof. Edwin Erie Sparks in a lecture at the university on "The Beginnings of Chicago."

"From 1684 also," said Prof. Sparks, "dates the first idea of our drainage canal, for in that year Father Marquette and Father Joliet carefully considered the plan of doing away with the portage by cutting a channel across the Illinois river."

Prof. Sparks traced the history of the city from the earliest beginnings. He showed how, in pursuance of the government's policy—inaugurated by George Washington—of building forts at the mouths of all rivers, a reservation was secured from the Indians in 1795 at the mouth of the Chicago river, where the government intended in time to build a fort."

"In 1803," said Prof. Sparks, "Secretary Dearborn of the war department sent an order to Detroit, the frontier post, commanding that a regiment be detached from the fort for the purpose of erecting at Chicago a new fortification. The commander of this regiment, Capt. Whistler, after sailing up past Mackinac, landed at the mouth of St. Joseph river and crossed the lake in a rowboat. Rumor has it that he landed here on July 4. Another story gives the date as August 17. A third says that it was the latter part of September, and as this is the most convenient time for our celebration we chose that date."

Prof. Sparks illustrated his lecture with stereopticon views. One of these, from an old drawing, showed the old Fort Dearborn in 1804. The river at that time flowed into the lake at a point as far south as Madison street.

THE BOSS WORM MEDICINE.

H. P. Knipe, druggist, Leighton, Ala., writes: "One of my customers had a child which was sick and threw up all food; could retain nothing on its stomach. He bought one bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and it brought up 119 worms from the child. It's the boss worm medicine in the world." White's Cream Vermifuge is also the children's tonic. It improves their digestion and assimilation of food, strengthens their nervous system and restores them to the health, vigor and elasticity of spirits natural to childhood. 25c at DuBois, Kolb & Co.

PREHISTORIC ANIMALS.

WONDERFUL FINDS OF BONES AND FOSSILS IN MONTANA.

St. Paul, Minn., July 8.—A special to the Globe from Big Timber, Mont., says:

Wonderful finds of fossils and bones of prehistoric animals are being made in the Fish Creek country by Prof. Marcell S. Farr and a party of students from Princeton college. The party is composed, in addition to Prof. Farr, of O. D. Thompson, Laurence Thompson, S. A. Halsey, Gordon Forbes, Walter Kimball, Charles H. Dugro and L. S. Adsett. The remains of a stone age city have been found, in which the bones of animals of great size, along with stone implements of all kinds, many of which are ornamented with gems. In a mound near the creek were found the almost complete skeleton of a man. The bones showed that the man when alive measured nearly nine feet in height, and was of powerful build. Near by was the skeleton of a woman a trifle smaller in size, and at the foot was a skeleton of an animal that resembles the dog of today, except the animal must have been as large as a small horse.

REPULSIVE FEATURES.

Blackheads, pimples, greasy faces and muddy complexions, which are so common among women, especially girls at a certain age, destroying beauty, disfiguring and making repulsive features which would otherwise appear attractive and refined, indicate that the liver is out of order. An occasional dose of Herbine will cleanse the bowels, regulate the liver and so establish a clear, healthy complexion. 50c at DuBois, Kolb & Co.

GOOD YEAR.

ALL RAILROADS, WITH FEW EXCEPTIONS, KEPT UP.

It has been a poor year so far, the Railway Age says, for steam railway receivers, and the business of selling railways under foreclosures has also been remarkably dull. No steam railway company in the United States operating as much as thirty miles of road has become insolvent, and only five little lines of from four to twenty-eight miles have failed to meet their interest obligations during the last six months.

But, while the era of receiverships and foreclosures of steam railways appears for the present to have ceased, the void which their absence from the courts has made begins to be filled by the financial misfortunes of electric railways. While no tabulated record of electric railroad estimate appears to be kept, the Railway Age has compiled from financial publications a list of five street railway companies which have been placed in the hands of receivers since January 1. These show a total length of 577 miles of track, representing $27,658,000 of bonds and $5,400,000 of capital stock, a grand total of $33,058,000 of street railway securities placed in the hands of receivers in that period, in comparison with $5,845,000 of securities of steam roads in similar condition.

THE PERFECT LIVER MEDICINE.

Mrs. M. A. Jolley, Noble, O. T., writes: "I have used Herbine for a number of years and can cheerfully recommend it is the most perfect liver medicine and the greatest blood purifier. It is a medicine of positive merit and fully accomplishes all that is claimed for it." Malaria cannot find a lodgment in the system while the liver is in perfect order, for one of its functions is to prevent the absorption of fever-producing poisons. Herbine is a most efficient liver regulator. 50c at DuBois, Kolb & Co.

MARRYING SQUIRE

RESIGNS AT FULTON TO GO SOUTH TO LIVE.

Squire Alex Roberts, the famous magistrate of South Fulton, has resigned his office and will leave shortly for Gulfport, Miss., to reside.

His resignation was presented to the county court at Union City and accepted.

Eq. Roberts has served Fulton about nine years most faithfully and loyally and resigns on account of ill health. He has been declining in health for the past two years and at times not able to attend to business for weeks at a time.

He is perhaps the most widely known magistrate in this section.

Rheumatism

Is Not a Skin Disease.

Most people have an idea that rheumatism is contracted like a cold, that the damp, chilly air penetrates the muscles and joints and causes the terrible aches and pains, or that it is something like a skin disease to be rubbed away with liniment or drawn out with plasters; but Rheumatism originates in the blood and is caused by Urea, or Uric Acid, an irritating, corroding poison that settles in muscles, joints and nerves, producing inflammation and soreness and the sharp, cutting pains peculiar to this distressing disease.

Exposure to bad weather or sudden chilling of the body will hasten an attack of Rheumatism after the blood and system are in the right condition for it to develop, but have nothing to do with the real true causes of Rheumatism, which are internal and not external.

Liniments, plasters and rubbing will sometimes reduce the inflammation and swelling and ease the pain for a time, but fail to relieve permanently because they do not reach the seat of the trouble. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism because it attacks it in the blood, and the Uric Acid poison is neutralized, the sluggish circulation stimulated and quickened, and soon the system is purified and cleansed, the aching muscles and joints are relieved of all irritating matter and a lasting cure of this most painful disease effected.

S. S. S. is a harmless vegetable remedy, unequalled as a blood purifier and an invigorating, pleasant tonic. Book on Rheumatism will be mailed free.

SCHOOL FACILITIES NEEDED.

The report of the superintendent of the public schools shows that Paducah is growing rapidly so far as her schools are concerned, and indicates that some steps must be taken at once to give the people of Mechanicsburg and Rowlandtown better school facilities. How to do this is something the authorities must themselves decide, but the people of these respective localities are entitled to larger schools, and should get them at once. The report of the superintendent shows that pupils will during the coming year have to go from Mechanicsburg to the schools down town. This will result in their having to carry lunch with them or get their meals down town, which will be inconvenient for many and impossible for some of them and may keep them from school. The result of such a lack of facilities will probably not be near so good to those who do go as if they could have their meals regularly and go to and from dinner as pupils do who live near the schools. It will be impossible for the pupils in remote sections who thus have to attend school in the heart of the city to go to their meals in the time given for noon recess, and in addition they will have to walk long distances or be at an expense for car fare. The thing is simply that better school facilities must be provided for these sections of the city. The property owners are called on regularly for their quota of taxes, and there is no way to evade the payment of these taxes, no matter how few advantages are given the people who pay them. They are entitled to just as good treatment as people in other parts of the city and should get it. It is possible for them to get it if the proper officials desired to give it, and there is no excuse for their not getting it if they demand it.

The same thing true of the public school system is true of fire facilities. Paducah needs at least one additional fire station and could easily use two more. The people of the North Side should have better fire protection as well as the people of the rapidly growing West End. Often a conflagration can gain such headway before the fire department can possibly make the run that great loss of property is entailed. This is very unnecessary as long as there is a way to prevent it. With an economical, common-sense administration of affairs all these evils might be corrected and the things needed secured. The people should demand that extravagance be abolished and that they be given more and larger schools and better fire protection.

The marvelous amount of work accomplished by the Illinois Central on the Tennessee river bridge in the past few days shows not only what can be done in modern railroading, but also that the Illinois Central has only the best men in its service, men who can be depended on at all times to make touch it. When the accident occurred on the bridge it was predicted by many experienced railroad men that it would be a month before trains could pass over the bridge, and yet it is less than a week. The saving to the people of this section cannot be adequately reckoned. The delays and suspension of traffic during the past few days shows what an enormous loss would have resulted in a month. It would not only mean irregularity and delays in the trains, but practically no freight from the east and delay of mail, baggage and passenger traffic as well. It would have meant the loss of thousands and thousands of dollars to the people of Paducah and much inconvenience, especially to the merchants, as well as heavy loss to the railroad company. But by its energy and enterprise the great Illinois Central system has accomplished in four days what it was believed would be impossible to accomplish in less than a month. It is an achievement of which the road and the able men at the head of its management and operation may well feel proud, and for which the people of this section should feel profoundly grateful.

The board of education should set a good example by paying its debts. It employed a stenographer to transcribe the evidence in the recent school investigation and then refused to pay the bill because someone else promised the board to pay half. What somebody else promised the board to pay has nothing to do with the board's own liabilities, and if it is not liable for work it ordered done it is not plain why.

The Democratic nominees who are kicking on account of the extra cost of the primary because the assessment was insufficient will kick worse than that later on when the Republicans beat them in November and they find they have thrown their money away. They got their work in pretty well on the Democrats of the state, but it is going to cost them something besides victory at the election—many much-needed plunks.

ERRONEOUS.

There appeared in this morning's Register an article through which the hand of the new telephone company was plainly visible. This article stated that the Retail Merchants' association intended to stand by their agreement with the new company. The association has no "agreement" with the new company. Perhaps the article is intended to convey the impression that Paducah's business men are different from business men in other places in that the new company expects them to pay it for service practically as much as the old company charges for four times as many connections. How absurd and incredulous is the assumption of the new company! The fact of the matter is that the business men are too smart to be hoodwinked. They discovered that their interests were suffering and changed their minds, a blessed privilege that the Almighty has given to us all. But, unfortunately, the new company is afflicted with ophthalmia, and being able to see only one way, it cannot change its mind. It would be "inconvenient" for it to do so, anyway.

If anyone doubts that the business men are dissatisfied let him see some of them along Broadway. In his rounds he will find the old telephone in nine out of every ten stores, and if he wants to go farther he will find that the old company has more than 1,300 subscribers that use its telephone exclusively, and hence cannot be reached through the new telephone.

There are not ten business men in Paducah without the old telephone connection. But such this is not strange. Who can expect them to pay a dollar for fifty cents' worth of service?

SEACOAST CASE

SOMETHING DEFINITE IS EXPECTED IN A SHORT TIME.

There have been no late developments in the Seacoast Mineral Co. litigation, but some are expected in a short time. Today a telegram was received that Mr. John Mulholland, the New York stockholder who has caused all the trouble, has left New York for Paducah, and it is supposed something will be done when he arrives towards settling the trouble. Attorney J. C. Flournoy, who has been in New York for the past week or more on business connected with the company, left yesterday for Paducah and will arrive here tomorrow.

ARE BEYOND PRICE

RELICS OF THE CROSS OF NAZAR-ETH IN AMERICA.

Well-Authenticated Fragment Is in the Cathedral at New York—Archbishop Ryan Tells of Pains Taken to Investigate Relics.

That well-authenticated relics of the true cross of Nazareth are treasured in New York is not generally known. It is, however, a fact. The cathedral authorities have long possessed one of the largest pieces of the true cross in this country. It is a mere splinter, not much larger than a cable needle.

In speaking of the matter Rev. Dr. Lavelle, pastor of the cathedral, said: "When Mark Twain, in his 'Innocents Abroad,' made the assertion that he had found enough relics of the true cross to build a ship, he made a most ridiculous blunder and betrayed an almost unpardonable ignorance."

The relic which holds these sacred relics is usually from 12 to 18 inches high. The precious specimen is rarely more than a mere thread of wood. It is placed in a large ostensorium, in order that the multitude may, on occasions when the relic is displayed, be able to distinguish its position upon the altar.

The relic which the cathedral cherishes was brought to this country by Cardinal McCloskey. Before this one of the other priests had, as his private possession, a small relic of the cross. Archbishop Hughes also possessed one of these tiny treasures. The relic at the cathedral is incased in a costly jewel studded reliquary, standing about 14 inches high. It shows ancient Roman repousse work in gold and silver. It is brilliant with diamonds and sapphires.

In the center of this ostensorium is a small medallion, covered with beveled crystal and showing beneath an ivory cross of exquisite workmanship. Set in the center of this is the relic of the cross of Nazareth.

Cardinal Gibbons has a piece of the true cross in his pectoral cross. Upon being requested to give his opinion as to the authenticity of these relics of the passion, he replied:

"As far as we can judge, we have every reason to believe in the genuineness of the relics which are preserved in Rome, particles of which have been distributed in almost every part of the Christian world. Archbishop Ryan, who has gone more deeply into the study of this subject than any other prelate in this country, has said:

"Every Christian, of no matter what creed, can appreciate the veneration in which we hold the relics of the Savior. Even as the patriot preserves souvenirs of heroes, so have the Christians in all countries held in reverence relics of the Nazarene."

"The true cross has been an object of especial veneration ever since its discovery, in the year 326, by Empress Helena. Many pieces of it have been distributed among the faithful, but these have not been larger than a small strand of hair. Thus a small piece of the wood affords thousands of relics."

"There is a congregation of canons appointed to investigate sacred relics and authenticate them. It is one of the most difficult things in the world to obtain such authentication. The seal of the church is never given to doubtful relics. There are, however, a great many duly authenticated relics."

Archbishop Ryan has a small portion of the true cross. The Franciscans in New York have a relic of the cross in a small silver case, which is kept in the part of the monastery reserved to the monks.

The abbey of Gethsemane, in Kentucky, treasures as its most valued possession a relic of the cross. Two splinters are laid in cruciform on an ivory disk. This is covered with a crystal and placed in the head of a crosser. This pastoral staff was the life work of a Trappist monk at the abbey.

SMALL ACCIDENTS

COUPLE THROWN FROM BUGGY AND PAINFULLY HURT.

John Dedrick, aged 12, of Florence Station, this county, fell from a bi-cycle and broke an arm.

W. S. Woods of Clinton, a foreman on the Illinois Central, had an operation performed on his arm in the I. C. hospital here, removing a portion of soft bone which made it impossible to raise the arm. It was broken some time ago and had just healed up when the operation became necessary.

Mr. and Mrs. John Pittman of 510 Elmwood street were thrown from their buggy while driving out near Tyler yesterday afternoon and both painfully but not seriously hurt. Their horse took fright at some horse on the roadside. The buggy was partially wrecked.

Happy Women of India.
The Women's Press club of New York gave a recent reception at which one of the most distinguished guests was Edmond Russell, artist and poet, recently returned from India. In the course of a speech Mr. Russell made the following statements:
"Don't pity the women of India. They don't need your pity, your money, your old clothes or your civilization. They are better educated than you are, and probably happier. There are no women's clubs in India, because the women are so highly civilized. They are not for such kind of parties."

A DELIGHTED CROWD

"Faust" Admirably Presented at The Kentucky.

A Smooth, Artistic Performance
Pleases Many Hundred People.

$300 CLEARED BY PLAY

A large and well pleased audience witnessed what was perhaps the best amateur production ever given in Paducah, at The Kentucky theater last night. "Faust" given for the benefit of the "Daughters of the Confederacy," was presented in an artistic and pleasing manner, and without a hitch. The scenic effects would have been a credit to any professional road company, and the management of the entire affair was such as to reflect the greatest credit on all those who participated.

Needless to say Mr. James A. Young, of New York, a young actor of ability and promise, carried off the honors of the evening as "Mephisto," a role that is very difficult and has made more than one actor famous. His interpretation was splendid, and in fact could hardly be improved on, even by the oldest actors who have played it for years. Mr. Young is graceful, has a fine voice, and infuses enough humor into his work to divest the character of anything uncanny or unwholesome.

Miss Flora May Clark, as "Marguerite," presented a sweet and attractive personage, and her work reached an artistic climax in the stirring and emotional scenes of the last acts. She was liberally applauded from the time she made her first appearance, and both she and Mr. Young, who had most to do with the management are to be congratulated on their excellent work and the appreciation the public showed for it.

Mr. Omar Fowler as "Faust" pleased the audience quite as much as the others. He is an actor of unusual ability and handled the part most admirably. He was formerly on the stage, but for the past several years has been in Paducah engaged in business.

Miss Geraldine Sanders as "Martha" won much deserved applause, and gave a fine interpretation of the role. She displays rare histrionic ability, and her work was equal to that of a professional.

Mr. Edwin J. Paxton as Valentine received much applause and was complimented on his conception and rendition of the part. The duel scene between Valentine and Faust was well done. The students, Messrs. Will Gilbert, Arthur Martin, R. A. Gilbert and Robert Caldwell were clever. Mr. Gilbert sang the Drinking Song very effectively.

The other roles were well taken and the entire production moved smoothly from the beginning to the end. A musical feature was the "Hymn to the Virgin," which was well rendered by Mrs. Will Hopkins and Mrs. Will Gray dressed as peasant girls.

The scenic effects were good the representation of Mephisto's kingdom being particularly realistic. Prof. Harry Gilbert's orchestra gave some appreciated selections between acts.

The amount cleared from the entertainment was $300.50. It will be devoted to erecting a monument on the Carnegie library lot to the memory of Confederate soldiers of Paducah.

A pretty incident of the performance was the presentation between the second and third acts of a handsome Daughters of the Confederacy pin from the local chapter to Miss Clark. The speech of presentation was made by Major Thomas E. Moss and Miss Clark though taken by surprise, made a modest and graceful little response expressing her appreciation.

VISIT OF MISSIONARY.

MISS OLAIKE LOVINGWELL OF CHINA, TO ARRIVE HERE TOMORROW.

Miss Claire Lovingwell, a Chinese missionary who was a witness to the Boxer massacre, is the guest of her brother, Mr. Charles Lovingwell, of Metropolis, and will arrive in Paducah tomorrow, en route to Woodville, this county, to deliver a lecture. Miss Lovingwell is in this country on a vacation.

Miss Rosa Welkert will return tomorrow from visiting in Evansville.

THE JEW AND THE LAW.

A COMMUNIOATION IN RESPONSE TO A RECENT UTTERANCE BEFORE THE GOOD GOVERNMENT LEAGUE.

Paducah, Ky., July 7, 1903.

Mr. Editor,

Dear Sir:—If it had been the policy of the Jew to take note of every slur, misrepresentation and insult that has been heaped upon him we fear the output of fiction would have been rivaled by that of controversial literature. Fortunately, throughout the ages the Jew has been the exponent of the meek and humble spirit, and the reading public has been spared the merd avalanche of angry words. There come occasions, however, when even the meek must doff their humility and the lowly avenge the affront that has been put upon their honor.

Such an occasion, Mr. Editor, has recently appeared in the city of Paducah. The G. G. L. met lately at the Broadway Methodist church, and the Reverend Mr. Newell spoke about the "Responsibility of the Citizen." In his discourse he chanced to refer to the violators of the law prohibiting Sunday baseball, and delivered himself of the following Philippic against the Jews: "Why are you going to pull down the temple of justice on our heads in this land as you tore it down in Russia on the heads of your own brethren? You teach disregard for law here and then petition the United States government to take care of your brethren in Russia, where the absence of law and its regard have brought their death." Despite the rhetorical confusion pardonable in the heat of extempore delivery, Mr. Newell's meaning is obvious. He means to predicate that the Jew, especially the Russian Jew, is the sworn foe of law and justice. To the Jew's disregard of these fundamental virtues is attributable, Mr. Newell concludes, the recent massacre at Kischineff. It is purely a case of righteous retribution, Mr. Newell maintains; the anarchic trait inherent in the Jew has flowered into its inevitable fruitage of riot and destruction. Presto! the Jew stands before the bar of civilization accused by the eloquent lips of Mr. Newell as a congenital or acquired anarchist.

The originality of the charge somewhat staggers the conventional imagination. Nay, it is uncanny to see the gentleman in question leap blithely over the old prejudices and ensconce himself complacently in a brand new error nook alone. It is incredible that he is impelled by other than worthy motives. We are convinced that he loves the Jews heartily, and it is only in the sorrow of his passion that he regrettably stigmatizes the Jew as an anarchist.

Clearly, therefore, it is a question of facts, not theories. Where are Mr. Newell's proofs that the Russian Jew

"has pulled down the temple of justice on his own head?" Surely not with Count Cassini or the Baron Von Schlippenbach. Probably Mr. Newell has private information of his own. For the cultured and civilized world of Europe and America has put itself on record as not alone absolving the Jew from all blame, but of directly accusing the bureaucracy and the church of Russia as vitally responsible for the massacre. Has the learned gentleman never read the statements of Maxim Gorki and Lyoff Tolstoy? Is it possible that the names of Michael Davitt, Wm. T. Stead and hosts of other impartial observers have never come to the notice of Rev. Newell in connection with the Kischineff affair? Or are newspapers, magazines and books banished from the Methodist parsonage? Surely then it is not wildly impossible that Mr. Newell will soon from his pulpit corroborate the ritual murder charge.

Let Mr. Newell imagine that any statement of ours be merely special pleading, we refer him for substantiation of our thesis that the Jew is par excellence law-abiding to such eminent non-Jewish authorities as were mentioned above.

And just one final word of suggestion. We advise Mr. Newell to make a complete study of Jewish history. Perhaps he will gain a better insight into the Jewish attitude toward the law. Or if that be too much to ask, let Mr. Newell peer into the dim recesses of his ante-graduation memory and hale out therefrom such pertinent facts as this: That almost 2,000 years ago the Jews were accused of having too much regard for the law. Let him recollect, if he can, the forgotten data about Paul and his anti-Jewish movement against the Jew. Let him remember that law was a word sacrosanct among the Jews at all times, and let him know that reverence for the law, manifested either in universal moral principle or local statutes, has been handed down as a precious heritage for untold generations from father to son, until today the statistics proclaim it that the Jew, of all peoples, is the most characteristically law-abiding. Let him not speak rashly or thoughtlessly of "Jews pulling down the temple of justice" when he must know that from the Jewish lips of prophet and seer there have pealed the most fervid and insistent syllables for justice the world has ever heard. And, finally, may he be saved from the vulgar error of hasty and superficial generalizations. Shall always the many be judged from the one?

HALF OUR ILLS ARE CATARRH.

[Letters From Two Prominent Men.]

CONGRESSMAN DUNGAN.

Congressman Irvine Dungan of Jackson, O., elected to the Fifty-second Congress as a Democrat, in a recent letter from Washington, D. C., says:

"I desire to join with my many friends in recommending your invaluable remedy, Peruna, to anyone in need of an invigorating tonic, and whose system is run down by catarrhal troubles. Peruna is a permanent and effective cure for catarrh and I would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to try this remarkable remedy."—Irvine Dungan.

Everybody is subject to catarrh. Peruna cures catarrh, acute or chronic, wherever located.

Hon. Thomas Gahan of Chicago, member of the National Committee of the Democratic party, writes as follows:

"I was afflicted with catarrh for fourteen years and though I tried many remedies and applied to several doctors I was not able to find a cure. I took Peruna for twenty-two weeks and am now entirely cured."—Thomas Gahan.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be glad to give you his valuable advice free.

SURE NOW

THE TRUTH ABOUT COFFEE.

It must be regarded as a convincing test when a family of 7 has used Postum for 5 years, regaining health and keeping healthy and strong on this food drink.

This family lives in Millville, Mass., and the lady of the household says: "For eight years my stomach troubled me all the time. I was very nervous and irritable and no medicine helped me.

"I had about given up hope until 5 years ago next month I read an article about Postum Cereal Coffee that convinced me that coffee was the cause of all my troubles. I made the Postum carefully and liked it so much I drank it in preference to coffee but without much faith that it would help me.

"At the end of a month, however, I was surprised to find such a change in my condition. I was stronger in every way, less nervous and at the end of six months I had recovered my strength so completely that I was able to do all of my own housework. Because of the good Postum did us I knew that what you claimed for Grape Nuts must be true and we have all used that delicious food ever since it first appeared on the market."

"We have 7 in our family and I do the work for them all and I am sure that I owe my strength and health to the steady use of your fine cereal food and Postum, in place of coffee. I have such great faith in Postum that I have sent it to my relatives and I never lose a chance to speak well of it." Name furnished by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Ice cold Postum with a dash of lemon is a delightful "cooler" for warm days. Send for particulars by mail of extension of time on the $7,800 cooika contest for 735 money prizes.

Colonization Not a Success. France spends annually for her colonies a little more than $25,000,000 while the aggregate of its colonies with them, export and import, is $62,000,000, and but 4,000 a year migrate to French colonies. But France has not been the least successful country in building a colonial empire, for Germany's geographical large possessions cost more than the aggregate of the exports and imports from them.

Author of "Abner Daniel," Our Next Serial Story.

In this story Mr. Harben is at his best, drawing from life characters he has known since childhood.

The New York Commercial-Advertiser, comparing the book with Eben Holden and David Harum, says:

Now that a really good book has come to light, a book far ahead of most of its class, it will be hard to induce people to believe it. We have gained more personal enjoyment from reading Abner Daniel than from any other novel of this particular type since the days of David Harum.

You will agree with the Commercial-Advertiser when you have read the story, which will be printed in this paper.

HABITS OF ECONOMY

MAN AND WOMAN INDULGE IN USELESS ARGUMENT.

Thrifless Tricks of Both Sexes Discussed in Detail—Dispute Ends with Triumphant Female Setting Out for Bargain Sale.

Economy was under discussion. "A woman knows how to economize much better than a man does," she said, decidedly.

The man looked skeptical, but said he was willing to be convinced by proofs.

"Now, see here, when you have a bit of a headache you rush out to the drug store and get the clerk to give you a powder," she said. "The next time you have a headache you do the same thing, and you spend a surprisingly large amount of money in this way."

"Well, what would you have me do?" asked the man. "Stand the headache, I suppose, and get cross and irritable."

"No, my dear man, I certainly would not, for when a man makes up his mind to stand his headache there's no living in the same county with him. But I would have you go out and buy a dozen powders or so, and so have them on hand. Buying them in a large quantity is much less expensive than buying them in dribbles."

"Now another way in which a man is wasteful. He does not look after his laundry well, suddenly finds himself without clean collars or a clean shirt, and goes out and buys more. As a matter of fact, he has plenty on hand and does not need any more, but through his carelessness he ties his money up in shirts and collars when it is positively necessary that he have a few cravats."

"Then there's the matter of tobacco."

"Oh, say, no fair," said the man. "You must cut that out, you know. A man has to smoke."

"All right," said the woman, cheerfully. "But there's the habit of treating. Half the time you don't want to treat and the other fellow does not want to have you treat, but neither of you has the courage to cut it out. So you go on spending your money for something you do not enjoy yourself, and that is something of a bore to the other fellow."

The man looked a bit rueful and acquiesced for the first time. "There's something in that," he said.

"And your stockings. So soon as a hole comes in them you throw them away. That's fearfully expensive. What if you are a bachelor; there are plenty of professional menders nowadays, and you could get the work done easily enough."

"Don't want to bother with it," said the man, a trifle grumpily.

The woman went calmly on. "Shaves are another expense. Why don't you shave yourself?"

"Cause I'd have to spend so much money in court-plaster if I did," said the man, quickly.

"Now, these are only a few of the ways in which you waste money," the woman continued. "Have I convinced you that you don't know how to economize?"

"How about the woman who buys a frugal luncheon of soup and rolls and then blows a lot in for ice cream and fluffy stuff?" asked the man. "How about woman's habit of buying a thing just because it is a bargain, when she has no possible use for it? How about her going to the hairdressers for a shampoo when she can do it very easily herself? How about the candy habit, and the visit of the doctor after a candy jag? How—"

"Convince a man against his will and he's of the same opinion still," chanted the woman, and left to attend the Friday bargain sale.—New York Times.

Berett.

I passed the window where she used to pane
With quickened step; I knew she was not there;
This was the time her lamp was always lit,
And she sat busy with her needle's care
For those she loved; and oft, by happy chance,
She would look down and give me cheery glance.
Such busy hands! Such tender, loving heart
That made of service crown and happy part.
Her sunny glance helped me to do my part,
With more desire to lighten and to bless
Those the dear Father gives into my care,
With whom the joys and griefs of life I share.
All undisturbed by anxious fear or care
Her faithful love gives holy service yet;
The heaven that holds her we shall long to share;
In this clear light, O heavenly Father, let
Our love for her in His deep truth appear,
Unstained by all its selfish blench here.

But oh! "the vanished hand," the sweet "attiled voice!"
For us the bitter loss, for her the gain!
In all her peace and rest I would rejoice;
But as I homeward pass, her window's pane
Will have no light for me, no happy smile;
Ah! I must pass some other way awhile!
—Isidor D. French, in the Boston Transcript.

New York's Mayor and Police. "There is an unwritten law in New York that forbids the mayor from visiting police headquarters, and up to a day or two ago Mayor Low had respected it. The other day, however, the mayor rode up with Gen. Greene in the latter's automobile. The mayor entered the building for the first time in his life and inspected it. He admitted that a new building was needed but said the city could not afford one now."

WOULD EMULATE
ROOSEVELT'S LONG RIDE

Berlin, July 8—Army officers are besieging the emperor with requests to allow them to repeat President Roosevelt's long-distance ride in Wyoming, the race to be over 60 miles of ground, same territory as that Roosevelt traveled over. Likewise the same breed of horses are to be used. The emperor is hesitating, because on various occasions he has announced long distance rides as cruel. At the same time, he asked "his great and good friend" in Washington to send him all possible details of the ride, which the Kaiser terms the "greatest cavalry feat ever performed by the head of a state."

29 COLORADO AND RE-TURN, MONON ROUTE.

The Monon Route will sell round trip tickets from Louisville to Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo until July 10, good returning until August 31. Only one night out from Louisville to Denver. For particulars address E. H. Bacon, D. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

THE SUN'S NEW STORY.

Our last story, "Granstark," the final installment of which was published in Tuesday's issue, proved very popular with The Sun readers. It is the intention of the publishers to get none but the very best stories that will appeal to every one, and this, they believe they have done. Negotiations are being made for a new story, that is one that has not recently been published, and if it is secured The Sun assures its readers a rare treat. It will start probably one day this week.

28.80 ST. PAUL AND RETURN, MONON ROUTE.

OUTING SPOTS IN THE NORTHWEST

There are many places in the country of the Northern Pacific, some inexpensive, others better and more expensive, where one can spend the summer days pleasantly and healthfully. Among these are Walker in the Leech lake country, and Detroit and Battle Lake in the Lake Park region in Minnesota; Eaton's ranch, near Medora, N. D.; Hunter's Hot Springs in the Yellowstone valley, and Missoula and the Bitter-root valley in Montana; Lakes Pend d'Oreille and Con d'Alene, Idaho; North Yakima in Eastern Washington, and Green River Hot Springs in the Cascades; Tacoma, Seattle, Port Townsend, Port Angeles and Victoria on Puget Sound, and many places along the Columbia river and on the Pacific Ocean from Portland as a center.

Those east of the Mississippi who wish a decided change should go to the Rockies or the Puget Sound and Columbia river and sea coast country. We can only hint at these things here, but write us giving particulars as near as you can, and we will try to give you the needed information to enable you to find what you want. And don't forget that Yellowstone Park is the chief of all tourist shines.

CHAPTER I.

THE young man stood in the field road giving directions to a robust negro who was plowing the corn, which in paring rows stretched on to the main road a quarter of a mile distant.

It was a beautiful day. The sun was shining brightly, but the atmosphere had dropped a dim veil over the nearby mountains. Even the two storied farmhouse, with its veranda and white columns, to which the field road led on a gradual slope, showed only its outlines. However, Alan Bishop, as he strolled his gaze upon the house, saw the figure of an elderly woman come out of the gate and with a quick step hurry down to him. It was his mother. She was tall and angular and had high cheek bones and small blue eyes. She had rather thin gray hair, which was wound into a knot behind her head, and over it she wore only a small red breakfast shawl, which she held in place by one of her long hands.

"Alan," she said, panting from her brisk walk, "I want you to come to the house right off. Mr. Trabue has come to see you, and I can't do a thing with him."

"Well, what does he want with him?" asked the young man. His glance was on the plowman and his horse. They had turned the far end of the corn row and were coming back, only the nodding head of the animal being visible beyond a little rise.

"He's come to draw up the papers for another land trade yore pa's makin'." He's the lawyer for the Tompkins high and had a screen made of a decorated window shade tightly pasted on a wooden frame. Old man Bishop sat near a window and through his steel framed nose glasses was carefully reading a long document written on legal cap paper. He paid no attention to the entrance of his son, but the lawyer, a short, fat man of sixty-five with thick black hair that fell below his coat collar, rose and extended his hand.

"How's Alan?" he asked pleasantly. "I saw you down in the field as I come along, but I couldn't catch your eye. You see, I'm out after some of your dad's cash. He's buying hisse'f rich. My Lord, if it ever does turn his way he'll scoop in enough money to set you and your sister up for life! Folks tell me he owns mighty near every stick of timber land in the Cohutta valley, and what he has got at the bottom figure."

"If it ever turns his way," said Alan. "But do you see any prospect of its ever doing so, Mr. Trabue?"

The lawyer shrugged his shoulders. "I never bet on another man's trick, my boy, and I never throw cold water on the plan of a speculator. I used to when I was about your age, but I saw so many of 'em get rich by paying no attention to me that I quit right off. A man ought to be allowed to use his own judgment."

Old Bishop was evidently not hearing a word of this conversation, being wholly absorbed in studying the details of the deed before him. "I reckon it's all right," he finally said. "You say the Tompkins children are all of age?"

"Yes, Effie was the youngest," answered Trabue, "and she stepped over the line last Tuesday. There's her signature in black and white. The deed's all right. I don't draw up any other sort."

Alan went to his father and leaned over him. "Father," he said softly and yet with firmness, "I wish you'd not act hastily in this deal. You ought to consider mother's wishes, and she is nearly distracted over it."

Bishop was angry. His massive, clean shaven face was red. "I'd like to know what I'd consult her for," he said. "In a matter of this kind a woman's about as responsible as a suckin' baby."

Trabue laughed heartily. "Well, I reckon it's a good thing your wife didn't hear that or she'd show you whether she was responsible or not. I couldn't have got the first word of that off my tongue before my wife would 'a' knuckled me clean through that wall."

Alfred Bishop seemed not to care for levity during business hours, for he glanced this remark only with a frown. He scanned the paper again and said, "Well, of that's any law in this I reckon you'll make it right."

"Oh, yes, I'll make any mistake of mine good," returned Trabue. "The paper's all right."

"You see," said Alan to the lawyer, "mother and I think father has already more of this sort of property than he can carry, and—"

"I wish you and yore mother 'd let my business alone!" broke in Bishop, dring up again. "Trabue heer knows I've been worryin' 'im for the last two months to get the property in salable shape. Do you reckon after he gets it that away I want to listen to yore two tongues a-waggin' in open opposition to it?"

Trabue rubbed his hands together. "It really don't make a bit of difference to me, Alan, one way or the other," he said patiently. "I'm only acting as attorney for the Tompkins estate and get my fee whether there's a transfer or not. That's where I stand in the matter."

"But it's not what I stand in, Mr. Trabue," said a firm voice in the doorway. It was Mrs. Bishop, her big eyes flashing, her face pale and rigid. "I think I've got a right—and a big one—to have a say so in this kind of a trade. A woman 'nt's stayed by a man's side for thirty odd year an' raked an' scraped to help save a little handful of property for her two children has got a right to raise a rumpus when her husband goes crooked like Alfred has an' starts in to bankrupt 'em all jest for a blind notion o' blin'."

"Oh, that you are!" said Bishop, lifting his eyes from the paper and glaring at her over his glasses. "I knowed I'd have to have a knockdown an' drag out fight with you 'fore I signed my name, so call in an' git it over. Trabue's got to ride back to town."

"But what in the name o' common sense is the money to come from?" the woman hurled at her husband as she rested one of her bony hands on the edge of the table and glared at him. "As I understand it, that's about 5,000 acres in this place alone, an' yore a-payin' a dollar a acre. What's it a-comin' from, I'd like to know? What's it to come from?"

Bishop sniffed and ran a steady hand over his short, gray hair. "You see how little she knows o' my business," he said to the lawyer. "Heer she's raisin' the devil an' Tom Walker about the trade, an' she don't so much as know what the money's to come from."

"How was I to know?" retorted the woman, "when you've been tellin' me for the last six months that that wasn't enough in the bank to give the house a coat of fresh paint an' patch the barn roof."

"You knowed I had $5,000 worth of stock in the Shoal River cotton mills, didn't you?" asked Bishop defiantly and yet with the manner of a man throwing a missile which he hoped would fall lightly.

"Yes, I knowed that, but"—The woman's eyes were two small fires burning hungrily for information beyond their reach.

"Well, it happens that Shoal stock is just the same on the market as ready money, up a little today an' down tomorrow, but never varyin' more'n a fraction of a cent on the dollar, an' so the Tompkins heirs say they'd jest as levee have it, an' as I'm itchin' to relieve them of their land it didn't take us long to come together."

If he had struck the woman squarely in the face, she could not have shown more surprise. She became white to the lips and with a low cry turned to her son. "Oh, Alan, don't—don't let 'im do it. It's all we have left that we can depend on! It will ruin us!"

"Why, father, surely," protested Alan as he put his arm around his mother, "surely you can't mean to let go your mill investment which is paying 15 per cent to put the money into hands that may never advance in value and always be a dead weight on your hands! Think of the loss of interest and the taxes to be kept up. Father, you must listen to!"

"Listen to nothin'," thundered Bishop, half rising from his chair. "No-body axed you two to put in. It's my business, an' I'm a-goin' to attend to it. I believe I'm doin' the right thing, an' that settles it!"

"The right thing," moaned the old woman as she sank into a chair and covered her face with her hands. "Mr. Trabue," she went on fiercely, "when that factory stock leaves our hands we won't have a single thing to our names that will bring in a cent of income. You kin see how bad it is on a woman who has worked as hard to do for her children as I have. Mr. Bishop always said Adele, who is visitin' her uncle's family in Atlanta, should have that stock for a weddin' gift of she ever married, an' Alan was to have the lower half of this farm. Now, what would we have to give the girl—nothin' but thousands o' acres o' hills, mountains an' gulches full o' bear, wildcats an' catamounts—land that it'd break any young couple's to hold on to, much less put to any use. Oh, I feel perfectly sick over it!"

There was a heavy, dragging step in the hall, and a long, lank man of sixty or sixty-five years of age paused in the doorway. He had no beard except a tuft of gray hair on his chin, and his teeth, being few and far between, gave to his cheeks a hollow appearance. He was Abner Daniel, Mrs. Bishop's bachelor brother, who lived in the family.

"Hello!" he exclaimed, shifting a big quid of tobacco from one cheek to the other. "Plottin' agin the whites? If you are, I'll doempr, as the feller said when the bull yellin' butted 'im in the small o' the back. How are you, Mr. Trabue? Have they run you out o' town for some o' yore legal rascality?"

"I reckon your sister thinks it's rascality that's brought me out today," laughed the lawyer. "We are on a little hand deal."

"Oh, well, I'll move on," said Abner Daniel. "I jest wanted to tell Alan that Higg's hog got into his young corn in the bottom jest now an' roared up about as many acres as Fole Baker's plowed all day. If they'd a-rooted in straight rows an' not gone too high the stalks, they might 'a' done the crop more good than harn, but their aim or intention, one or t'other, was bad. Fole's is that away. Mighty few o' 'em eat—when they root at all—fer anybody but theirse'ves. Well, I'll git along to my room."

"Don't go, Brother Ab," pleaded his sister. "I want you to help me stand up fer my rights. Alfred is about to swap our cotton mill stock fer some more wild mountain land."

In spite of his natural tendency to turn everything into a jest—even the serious things of life—the hollow face of the tall man lengthened. He stared into the faces around him for a moment; then a slow twinkle dawned in his eye.

"I've never been knowed to take sides in any connubial tussle yet," he said to Trabue in a dry tone. "Alf may not know what he's about right now, but he's Solomon a biase' compared to a feller that will undertake to settle a dispute betwixt a man an' his wife—more especially the wife. Geewhilkins! I never shall forget the time old Jane Hardaway come heer to spend a week an' Alf thar an' Betsey split over buyin' a hatrack fer the ball. Betsey had seed one over at Mason's at the campground an' determined she'd have one. Maybe you noticed that fancy contraption in the hall as you come in. Well, Alf seed a nigger unloadin' it from a wagon at the door one mornin', an' when Betsey, in feer an' tremblin', told 'im what it was fer he mighty nigh had a fit. He said his folks never had been above hangin' the'r coats an' hats on good, stout nails an' pegs, an' as fer them umbrella pans to catch the drip, he said they was fancy spitboxes, an' wanted to know of she expected a body to do the'r chawin' an' smokin' in that windy hall. He said it jest should not stand thar with all them prongs an' arms to attack unwary folks in the dark, an' he toted it out to the buggy shed. That got Betsey's dauder up, an' she put it back agin the wall an' said it 'ud stay thar of she had to stand behind it as 'hold it in place. Alf wasn't done yet. He 'lowed of they was to have such a party trick as that on the hill it had to stay in the best room in the house, so he put it heer in the parlor by the piano. But Betsey took it back two or three times, an' he hant that e was a-doin' a sight o' work fer nothin' an' finally quit totin' it about."

Excess
Of Smoking Affected My Heart
So I Had To Sit Up To Breathe.
Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Me.

There is nothing that has a more deleterious effect upon the cardiac or heart nerves than the excessive use of tobacco. Pain and tenderness around the heart, an oppressive feeling in the chest, choking sensation in the throat, discomfort from sleeping on the left side and smothering spells at night when the sufferer has to sit up in bed to breathe are the most common symptoms of a weak heart. Smokers who feel these symptoms and who do not understand their meaning should be warned in time, by the following experience:

"I was greatly troubled with an affection of the heart, due to the excessive smoking. On writing to you for advice I was directed to begin a course of treatment which included Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, Dr. Miles' Nervine and Nerve and Liver Pills, together with bathing, etc. I faithfully followed the directions given and am pleased to say that my cure is complete and permanent. Before beginning the use of your remedies I was so nervous I could not keep my hands still and suffered greatly from severe pains around the heart. Many times at night I would be forced to assume a sitting posture to get my breath, and for the time being it would seem as though my heart had stopped beating. From the splendid results achieved in my case I can cheerfully recommend Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, Restorative Nervine and other remedies to all sufferers from heart or nervous troubles."—Yours truly, ELIJAH HALL, Dethan, Ala.

Correct Summer Clothing

The Kind That Won't Lose Shape

Did you ever notice how quick thin clothing loses its shape? It's because it is not made right. We overcome that fault in our Correct Summer Clothing—we've had it made a new way. The coats have a full shoulder, with hair-cloth stiffening down the front, that keeps them from breaking or losing shape. The pants have cuff bottoms, concealed buttons and felt straps, the cloth is thoroughly shrunk which overcomes bagging at the knee. There's no clothing like it for fit and style in Paducah. We show the new Irish Donegal Cloths, Cheviots and Home-spuns in coats and pants for men and young men.

Theatrical Notes.

The large house at The Casino last night, with the tremendous opposition at The Kentucky, is evidence of the manner in which local theatergoers appreciate the efforts of The Seward Show. It was unexpected, too, in one sense, for under the circumstances every amusement lover was expected to attend "Fand" with its big cast and noble cause. Good summer shows are like angel's visits to earth, very few, but Mr. Seward certainly has given Paducah one of the very best of this few.

"Still Waters Run Deep," a famous English play which Mr. and Mrs. Kendall have made their favorite play in both this county and Great Britain will be Mr. Seward's offering for tonight. It is a high class production of great repute, one never seen at low prices by any other company and The Seward Show deserves much credit for producing such a meritorious play. A very large audience will doubtless witness both performances of this play.

A girl who can sing five G's was the feature at the Circle Music hall in New York last week. Miss Bessie Greenwood is the Brooklyn girl who was requested by Mrs. McKinley to sing for the president on the day that he was assassinated. Her range is said to be a major third higher than that of Ellen Beach Yaw, and she sings the highest F reached in music.

Miss Greenwood is the daughter of a wealthy Wall street broker, and she is preparing for a career in grand opera. Her voice is probably the greatest musical marvel that the world has ever known.

Its phenomenal range created quite a sensation, but at the same time Miss Greenwood is an artist, and her singing would be fully as attractive if she only had a voice of ordinary compass. Her salary in vanderbilt was $1,000 a week, and it was with much difficulty that she was persuaded to accept this engagement.

The late Stuart Robson, while playing the role of Bertie, the Lamb, in "The Henrietta," in Detroit last season, was handed the photograph of a young woman, who wrote:

"Please guess my age, and tell me your age."

Mr. Robson was seated in the office of the late C. J. Whitney, of the Detroit opera house, at the time.

"Are you going to answer the impertinent young person?" asked Mr. Whitney.

"Certainly responded Mr. Robson, and taking a photograph of himself, which was on the wall above Mr. Whitney's desk, he wrote across the face of the cardboard:

"I do not know how old you are, Nor do you know how old I am, But take my word for this, my dear, That I am mutton, tho' 'the Lamb.'"

Miss Regina Merritt, who went out with "Pickings From Puck" the past season, has returned for the summer. She left the company at Seattle to join another.

THE POPULAR

OLD POINT EXCURSION WILL BE RUN AUGUST 18.

It is with pleasure that we announce that this popular personally conducted excursion will be run Tuesday, August 18, via the great Chesapeake and Ohio railway. It is conceded by all who have enjoyed these outings that this trip surpasses any offered the traveling public on account of the diversified places of interest. Old Point is now even more attractive than ever since the government has made its new park and beautified and made additions to Fortress Monroe.

Detailed information and rates will be announced in a few days.

DOCTORS MEET

Kansas City, Kansas, June 29, 1903. Whereas, A great calamity has fallen upon the portion of Kansas City, Kan., known as Armourdale, depriving the people, who are working people, of their all. Among the most unfortunate, and upon whom the blow falls hardest, are five hundred retail merchants whose entire stocks ranging from $500 to $20,000 in value, besides fixtures, horses, wagons, and in many cases the buildings together with all records and books were washed away and destroyed. The twenty thousand people of the flooded district will be unable for many months to do more than live, and consequently that will make it harder on the retail merchants. Therefore be it resolved:

That we, the retail merchants of the flooded district of Kansas City, Kan., appeal to our brother merchants, to contribute one dollar each, to the relief of their brother merchants of the flooded district. Address all contributions to Mr. B. Nelson, Treas., and all other communications to Mr. E. R. Harris, Secretary of the Retail Merchants' committee, care Merchants' Mutual association, Kansas City, Kan., who will acknowledge receipt of same.

Awaiting your esteemed reply, we are Yours most respectfully,

MERCHANTS' MUTUAL ASSOCIATION.

A Natural Question.

The youngster in the art gallery looked long and earnestly at the painting. Then he read the inscription. "Do you like it?" asked his mother. "Oh, I like it well enough," he answered, "but I don't understand it." "What is it you don't understand?" "Why, it says, 'Wild Horses—After Rosa Bonheur.' I see the horses all right, but where's the girl they're after?"—Brooklyn Eagle.

By "X-Rays."

Just for once won't you try a pair of shoes that are not made from guesswork measurements of what your foot ought to be, but from "X-ray" photographs of what women's feet really are?

The "Dorothy Dodd" Shoe is exactly shaped to the bones, muscles, and ligaments of the foot, as they are plainly revealed by "X-ray" photograph. This is the explanation of why you hear so much talk on all sides about the wonderful "Fit of a 'Dorothy Dodd.' The shoe deserves its popular nickname of "an arrangement in comfort." But all this is of no help to you unless you own a pair. On the day you buy them you will learn a new lesson in Foot Comfort.

After that, no one can sell you any other shoe but a "Dorothy Dodd."

Sincerely yours,

DOROTHY DODD.
